

The Social Mirror

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Mr. and Mrs. Rodger Marra of Park avenue entertained with three tables of Five Hundred on Monday evening. Elegant refreshments were served and the evening was greatly enjoyed by all.

Mrs. J. C. Herndon had as her guests for a part of the week Mr. and Mrs. George Cook of San Francisco, who were on their way home from a trip abroad. On Tuesday evening the old-time friends of Mr. and Mrs. Cook gathered in Mrs. Herndon's home for an informal visit with them and on Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Herndon entertained again in their honor with an afternoon of cards.

Wednesday the home of Mrs. George Reed of North Summit street was the scene of a most enjoyable social, which was given by the Ladies' Aid society of the Baptist church. It was their first social of the season and the members of the Ladies' Aid society feel much encouraged and hope to have several more of these pleasant gatherings throughout the winter. Games and refreshments were the order of the evening and all present reported a pleasant time.

Mrs. George F. Merryman has been hostess of a delightful house party in her bungalow at Pine Crest during the month of September. Mr. Merryman was with her for awhile, but was called back to Phoenix on business. Among her guests were Miss Osceola Mae Pendleton of Phoenix, who will remain until Mrs. Merryman closes her bungalow and returns home next week. Miss Stella Benanato, who is stenographer in the State Tax Collector's office in the capital, returned to Phoenix the first of the week, having spent her vacation with Mrs. Merryman. Miss Bananato was so charmed with Pine Crest that she contemplates erecting a cottage early next summer on one of the beautiful knolls up there overlooking the Idylwild valley. She carried home with her a bouquet of wild flowers containing about twenty-five different varieties, which she had gathered on her walks over the hills near Pine Crest. Mrs. Samuel Espy of Chicago, Mrs. Merryman's sister was expected in the city Thursday and will go with her to her home in Phoenix and later visit with friends in southern California before returning to Illinois.

Mrs. C. S. Sturges, with her mother and daughter, have occupied their cottage at Pine Crest all summer, excepting for about a fortnight during July, when Mr. and Mrs. Sturges and daughter, Miss Elvie, toured northern Arizona, including Flagstaff and the Grand Canyon, in an automobile. Mr. Sturges has come up from Phoenix several times during the summer in his automobile, but could not remain long at a time on account of business. Miss Elvie returned home last week so as to be there for the opening of High school, and Mrs. Sturges' mother and brother have been with her since. They closed the cottage Friday, the ladies taking the afternoon train for Phoenix and the gentleman going overland to his mining camp near Constellation.

The season at Pine Crest just drawing to a close has been a most happy one for all the cottagers and their guests privileged to share in the joys of life in that delightful suburb on the pine clad hills of West Prescott. House parties for the week end, or longer, have been frequent throughout the summer, and the beautiful views of which each cottager feels certain he has the best) the drives in so many directions, the abundance and variety of the flora which have added such charm to the strolls through the woods, have given new pleasures to each day's experiences. The drive-ways have been kept in constant and excellent repair all summer, so that horseback rides and automobil- ing have been most enjoyable sports. Several of the cottages are rented for the winter and their owners are regretting that home duties, the demands of business and the reopening of schools are hurrying them southward before they are at all wearied of the pleasures of life at Pine Crest. All are planning to return early next summer and are hoping to induce many of their friends in the southern part of the state to erect cottages in the colony instead of going to the coast, or the north pole, or some other far-away place for their vacations.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Anderson are erecting a handsome residence on one of the hills on the Murphy drive near Pine Crest.

Mr. and Mrs. David O. Saunders, are rejoicing in the arrival of David Saunders, Jr., who weighed eight pounds when he came to town Friday morning and is still growing. Mrs. Saunders was Miss Irene Ellis and she has hosts of friends in Prescott, who will wish her joy on this happy occasion.

Mrs. Fred Juleff, who will be pleasantly remembered as Miss Alice Campbell, returned from Bisbee yesterday, to visit with her many friends for several weeks and is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell. Mr. Juleff is the superintendent of the big shaft of the C & A mines in the above city.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Robinson, and family of Phoenix have occupied their cottage at Pine Crest throughout the season and have had different guests with them off and on all summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Diehl drove up from Phoenix and were in their cottage for a while earlier in the season.

Mrs. T. E. Campbell has returned from a three months' sojourn on the west coast, most of the time having been spent in San Francisco and vicinity.

Mrs. Ida L. Saunders of Little Rock, Arkansas, who has been visiting relatives in Prescott for several weeks, left for Los Angeles and the beaches of southern California the early part of the week. It is expected that she will return later in the season and spend the winter in Prescott.

JOHN WILKINS OF HUMBOLDT IS NO MORE

Dies at Mercy Hospital After Illness Of Two Weeks

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

After an illness of about two weeks, John Wilkins, the merchant of Humboldt, passed away from erysipelas yesterday afternoon at Mercy hospital in this city. He was one of the best known residents of the county, and popular with all. His affliction was of long duration, but did not assume a serious condition until recently. He leaves a brother, W. Wilkins, residing at Dewey, and another brother, who is farming near Globe, Arizona. A married sister also resides at Dewey, all of whom have been summoned to this city. The body is at Ruffner's and the funeral will be announced later.

MONEY TO BUILD ROADS IN RESERVE.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

District Forest Supervisor Mullen of the agricultural department has arrived in the city and is preparing to disburse about $2,500 of national funds towards the improving and building of wagon roads in the Prescott forest reserve.

This amount is to be expended under a recent ruling of the forestry service on the basis of ten per cent of the gross receipts from fees paid into all reserves throughout the country for the specific purpose of road work in any line desired. What line of highway in the limits of the Prescott reserve will receive this amount of money is being considered by Supervisor Mullen and later the disposition of the money will be announced. This official has been making an investigation of roadways in southern Arizona reserves and is en route to the northern part of the state on a similar mission. The Coconino reserve is said to be the beneficiary of a larger donation than any other in the state, and its allotment will run close to $8,000, it is reported.

FOUGHT APACHES MONTE TO GRAZE HERE IN EARLY SEVENTIES ON PASTURES GREEN

General Schuyler is Re-membered by The Old Timers Faithful Horse Has Been Supplanted By Automobile

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

General W. S. Schuyler, commanding the Department of the Pacific, who is in the city making an inspection of Fort Whipple, is not a stranger to Prescott. On the other hand, with the exception of a score of old time residents, he probably knows more about the lay of the land and the qualifications of being a well-edged Hassayamper than a majority of those who claim to have imbibed of the water of that noted stream above and below the famous crossing.

General Schuyler was yesterday greeted at the Yavapai Club by many old time civilians, who remember his gallant military service and who cherish his splendid career in the dark days of 1873, when he was one of the able lieutenants of General Crook in making the country inviting and secure for the march of progress that followed the subjugation of the Apache. At that time General Schuyler was a captain of the Fifth cavalry, stationed at Camp Verde. From that center he was shifted to old Camp Walapai, near Williamson valley, was on duty at Camp Date Creek, Fort Whipple, Camp Apache, and other military stations, remaining in the saddle until 1877, when he was ordered out of the department. The best tribute to his military career was expressed yesterday when so many old time residents again shook his hand and recalled thrilling scenes in which he was a participant, and a victor. General Schuyler also enjoys today a distinction which very few if any can point to in their military record, in that he is the only known living captain that was with Crook in the Apache campaigns in Arizona, who is still "on the firing line" ready and willing to answer the call of the country on any occasion that may arise. This distinction is a unique and agreeable one for this noted military man to point to, and was feelingly recalled yesterday when he again faced the old "uns of over a third of a century ago. His civilian friends state he was one of the best officers ever stationed in Arizona, and with a genial personality was riveted with a will of steel that never relaxed when an Apache was in sight.

General Schuyler leaves today for Jerome and the Verde valley, accompanied by R. N. Frederick and other citizens of the city. He wants to retrace his steps over the old ground to refresh his memory and locate a certain point, where he had a thrilling hand-to-hand fight with the Apaches. This place is said to be what is now known as the Haskell & Kirwaggen fruit ranch, in the Verde valley. A resident of Prescott stated yesterday that at that place, General Schuyler's troop of cavalry was engaged, and he was personally conversant with one indisputable fact that the captain fired four shots from his revolver, and in less than four minutes there was a "good Indian" for every discharge of the weapon.

EIGHT PER CENT COPPER ORE AT SIOANSEA.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

C. Clerc, general manager of the Swansea Consolidated company, while in the city yesterday stated that mine and smelter operations had been attended with such gratifying results that the introduction of a reverberatory furnace had been decided upon, and it would be in operation by November 1.

Another important matter mentioned was that the smelter had been running to date continuously for over five weeks, and the average daily treatment was 450 tons. The value of the matte was not given publicly, but is said to have been satisfactory, in fact it exceeded all expectations. Mr. Clerc also reported that the striking of eight per cent copper ore on the 300-foot level had taken place recently, which was the highest grade yet mined. Outside ores are being handled for fluxing with the Swansea output, in short, the property was going ahead in all departments in a very satisfactory manner, and he was optimistic over the future.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

"The Passing of the Horse" could not be more fittingly exemplified than by what occurred yesterday through the advent of the automobile, when Austin Mulvenon who has purchased a fine Overland car, retired his faithful "Monte" from any future use for a driving animal, and placed him on the pension list as long as he may live.

"Monte" is one of the best known animals ever in Prescott, and for twenty-three years his docile nature, his lively gait, with an equine beauty that was much admired, had become known to practically every man and woman in this city. For the past twelve years he had been cared for in Ruffner's stables, and that he was idolized by all in that hostelry can be attested to by the many who have handled him during that time.

"Monte" has been in the Mulvenon family ever since he was a colt, and never has the slightest accident taken place in all those years. He was brought from California when a few weeks old by J. W. Sullivan, when he was purchased by the late Hugh Mulvenon. He had a track record of 2:36, without the slightest training, but his use was for buggy purposes solely. He goes to the pasture ranch of Geo. W. McKerron, near Camp Wood, after long and faithful service to his masters, and will graze contentedly hereafter in recognition of faithful services. This is one instance where the auto has performed a splendid service, but which, nevertheless the generous owner of "Monte" regrets as due to the shifting of the scenes, and old age requires a compassionate regard to be extended his dumb friend.

BOARD IS ENTITLED TO FIVE DELEGATES.

William Stephens, chairman of the Yavapai County Board of Supervisors, is in receipt of a message from George A. Snow, chairman of the Utah Board of Control, advising him that he is entitled to appoint five delegates to the Twentieth Annual Irrigation congress to be held at Salt Lake City, Sept. 30 to Oct. 3, 1912, and those wishing to attend this meeting are requested to send in their names. Mr. Snow states the congress is an assured success and promises to be the most interesting and important with the largest attendance since the congress was organized.

An impressive program has been provided and many of the ablest men in the land will be present to discuss the various vital subjects that will come before the congress. Prominent among these subjects are: "Irrigation of the Great West," "Storing of the Floods," "Measurement of Streams," "Scientific Investigation of Irrigation Projects," "Proper Safeguarding of Irrigation Securities," "Enactment of Practical Working and Uniform State Irrigation Laws," "Preservation of the Forests," "Opportunity to Build New Homes," "Hedging the Call of the Landless Man for the Manless Land," "Elimination by Law of Fraud in Connection With the Location and Sale of Land," "Co-operative Effort of Government and State Immigration Officials," "Close Co-operation of State Engineers." While these subjects cover generally the scope of the congress program, other matters of general interest by way of agricultural development will arise and discussion will be free and open to all.

Salt Lake, the hostess city for the Twentieth congress has made extensive preparations for the entertainment and accommodation of delegates and guests. The greatest electric parade ever held in the intermountain west will occur Monday night, Sept. 30, while a mammoth exhibit of products of irrigated farms will be made in connection with the Utah state fair, which will be in progress during the congress.

RACES POSTPONED.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 21.—The Vanderbilt automobile races were postponed until the week after next because of an unsafe track, made so by the recent heavy rains.

WILL SHIP ORE TO EL PASO TO BE TREATED MACKIN HEARING SET FOR NEXT SATURDAY

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Ores that have accumulated at the Lookout Copper Company's mines on Slate Creek, are to be shipped to El Paso for treatment, the first consignment of fifteen tons being brought to the city yesterday, by John Twigg, who has the contract for delivering about 100 tons. This property is being operated under a lease by Messrs. Twigg, Hanson and Hall, and operations to date are reported as satisfactory. F. M. Murphy is the president of the Lookout holdings, and has ordered the old dump to be removed. The grade is said to run high in copper, silver and gold.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Judge Chas. McLane announced yesterday that the preliminary hearing of Joe Mackin, accused of assaulting Mrs. F. S. Moses at Zonia a couple of weeks ago, with intent to kill, would take place on next Saturday in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Moses arrived from their camp Sunday, the condition of the latter improving sufficiently that the trip by wagon to the railroad could be made for the first time since the trouble took place. Harry E. Moe, who will testify as a witness, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Moses to the city, as did also L. J. Hasfeldt, the merchant of Kirkland valley.

PAINTS SCENES OF THE GRAND CANYON WILL SOON BE DEVELOPED

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Leo Rosenberg, mining engineer, returned to New York city yesterday afternoon after an examination of copper mines on the desert for an eastern syndicate. En route he will visit his wife at the Grand Canyon, the latter having been engaged since last April in painting on canvass a series of five scenes of that creation of forty by fifty inches. This artistic work will be disposed of later, for a sum ranging to over $3,500, it is stated. Mrs. Von Rosenberg expects to conclude her work next month.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

M. M. Green, interested in the majestic mines of Cherry Creek district, who has been making an examination of the property for several days, returned to Chicago, last night. He is pleased with the property and returns in a few weeks, when general operations will be inaugurated on a large plan of underground development.

TOTAL SALES OF WEEK ARE OVER 2000 HEAD.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Another big cattle deal has been closed in the Del Rio country, 500 head of steers being purchased by T. H. Reynolds of Mojave, California. The shipment is now en route to that point. The sellers are the Bar Diamond company, Ed Mahurin, John Duke, W. R. Rhodes and others.

During the present week a total of 2,000 head have been sold from that range country alone, and the sum paid out will reach close to $70,000. Other deals are pending in the western part of the county which when closed will swell the sum to over $125,000. Rangeland state this fall promises to be the best known for many years, cattle being in fine condition and the prevailing price the highest ever known.
